

Exceptional Precision since 1964: Blanking and Forming Tools from Zecha

[About us.] Zecha GmbH is a successful small to mid-sized enterprise in Southern Germany. We have been producing highest quality carbide tools for use in blanking, forming, and cutting operations for 40 years. Today, customers use our products in Europe, North America, and Asia.

Modern CNC machines, high-end measuring and inspection technology, and intensive cooperation with our customers guarantee the extraordinary perfection of our tools. Two thirds of the products we make are special tools. With a sure sense for what is technically and economically feasible, we develop individualized solutions for your specific application.

Currently, our production and sales facilities cover 2600 m² of space, with a workforce of about 75 highly qualified and motivated employees.

[Special Tooling.] With many years of experience in the realization and manufacture of tooling designs, we produce special tooling precisely to drawing according to your specifications. Concentricities of <math><1 \mu\text{m}</math> are achieved in individual components as well as volume-produced products, with surface finishes in exacting quality that meet your requirements.

Our new dual-track production lets us combine the flexibility of a of a small design shop with the capabilities of a mid-sized company:

In our mechanical production line we produce individual components, small batches, and especially tools needed on short notice. Supported by a PPS system, our CNC line with modern profile grinding center enables us to produce efficiently on a medium to large-scale in two-shift operation.

[Stock Availability Program.] We also keep a comprehensive range of punches according to DIN 9861 and ISO 8020, prestages for blanking sleeves, guide bushes, and semi-finished products available in stock. All of our tools are available by request on short notice and in intermediate or special dimensions.

[Carbides.] We use only modern carbides from leading manufacturers
